

RICHARD J. DURBIN

United States Senator

Dick Durbin (Democrat) is Illinois' 47th U.S. Senator from Illinois. First elected to the Senate in 1996 to fill the seat vacated by his political mentor, former U.S. Senator Paul Simon, Durbin was re-elected in 2002 and 2008. He serves as Assistant Democratic Senate Majority Leader, or Majority Whip, the second-highest ranking position in the Senate. His election to leadership in December 2006 marked only the fifth time in history that a Senator from Illinois has served as a Senate leader. He previously held the position of Minority Whip.

Senator Durbin is the first Illinois Senator in more than a quarter of a century to serve on the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, a position that allows him to advocate for federal funding for local projects. In his decade on the committee, he has helped secure funding for everything from veterans' care and schools to highways and health-care clinics.

During his three terms in the Senate, Durbin has focused on economic development, education, transportation and access to affordable, quality health care. He has been a strong advocate for working families, striving to promote economic growth, enhance public education, improve our transportation infrastructure, advance medical research and public health, reduce crime and protect the environment. He also has pushed for keeping the Social Security system strong, reforming campaign financing, and controlling rising energy and health-care costs.

In 1988, Durbin authored landmark legislation to ban smoking on commercial airline flights. He also has worked to protect children from tobacco marketing and gun violence. He introduced gun safety legislation that holds adults responsible if they fail to lock up their firearms and the guns are subsequently used by a child to kill or injure another person. Durbin also has been a champion of Illinois farmers and a proponent of the research and use of ethanol as a viable energy product.

In 2006, Senator Durbin was recognized as "One of America's 10 Best Senators" by Time magazine.

Durbin was born Nov. 21, 1944, in East St. Louis. He received his bachelor's degree in foreign service and economics from Georgetown University in 1966 and his J.D. degree from the university in 1969. He began his public service to the State of Illinois in 1982 when he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives representing the 20th Congressional District.

Senator Dick Durbin and his wife, Loretta, reside in Springfield. They have three children (one deceased) and one grandchild.
